

Hello!

Many thanks for your interest in working with us.
Let me tell you a bit about who we are, and what we can do for you.

We've (Always) Got You Covered

We work with companies of all industries and sizes - which is possible because we are a team of experts rather than a lone free-lancer. When you engage Cavalletti Communications, you can rest assured that we'll always have the right people available for your projects.

The Whole Shebang

At CavaCom we create and polish content for your marketing (websites, brochures, blogs, ebooks, video scripts, capability statements, media kits, etc.) and business needs (sales pitches, tenders, annual reports, submissions, applications, speeches, manuals, etc.).

Have a book in you? Think of a book as your most effective 'business card' and marketing tool to boost your business and bottom line. Our manuscript editors and ghostwriters can help you achieve just that.

Understanding People

We know business and cultural nuances not just words. My hand-picked team is packed with seasoned professionals of diverse writing, editing and cultural backgrounds: copywriters, journalists, authors, presenters, lecturers, policy officers, marketers and lawyers, to name but a few. Matching the right person to your project is what makes our process so effective.

In short: we create compelling content that connects, convinces and converts.

I look forward to talking with you soon.

Warm regards,

Daniela
